DETAILED ACTION

The finality of the 2-3-2004 has been removed. A new rejection follows.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-7, 9-16 and 18-22 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 29-37 of copending Application No. 10/273,730. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the method claims in the other application cannot be performed without the apparatus as claimed in this application and the method claimed in this application is broader in scope than the claims in the other application.

One of ordinary skill in the art would consider it obvious that the method of claim 29 of the other application would require a solution source, a vessel capable of holding a cryogen and an insulated tip below the surface of the cryogen for injecting the solution as claimed in the current claim 1 of this application. Likewise one would realize that the method of the other patent would rapidly produce particles of the solution as currently claimed in claim 10. It is considered obvious that the spray freezing step of the other application can be used for any freezable substance to provide small particles without an encapsulating agent.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
